American Printing House for the Blind (APH) Federal Quota Program

What is the APH Federal Quota Program?

In 1879 the "Act to Promote the Education of the Blind" was passed. By this Federal Act, Congress created a permanent annual appropriation for the specific purpose of "manufacturing and furnishing books and other materials specially adapted for instruction" of blind students in the United States and its Territories.

The Act and its resulting programs administered through the American Printing House for the Blind (APH) place the most appropriate educational aids, tools, and supplies in the hands and lives of each eligible person with blindness. The system through which these specialized materials are distributed is known as the Federal Quota Program. Through it, aids are provided free to eligible individuals with blindness in educational and rehabilitation settings.

Today, APH manufactures an extensive inventory of commercially-unavailable educational aids, tools, and supplies which address the specific learning and rehabilitation needs that a vision loss creates. Materials available through the APH Federal Quota Program can be found in the APH Products Catalog.
